SELF-REVIEW AND SCORECARD

NOVEMBER 4, 2026 · THE NEW SITE AGAINST THE 12 OCTOBER CHECKLIST AND TODAY'S RESEARCH

SCORED THE SAME WAY THE OLD PAGE WAS SCORED, BY THE SAME HAND, WITH THE SAME SCEPTICISM

On 12 October the live investor page scored 43 of 140 on a fourteen-element checklist built from the IR Magazine and Q4 best-investor-website criteria, NIRI and CIRI guidance and the TSX Venture issuer resources, reported as 38 of 100 after rounding for the quality of its FAQ and design. The same checklist is applied below to the site as rebuilt turnkey on 4 November 2026, with no placeholders, and at go-live once the domain, redirects and email list are live. (The 23 October delivery, with 54 placeholders open, scored 99 of 140.)

old page, 12 October	4 November rebuild	at go-live	reachable by January

1. THE FOURTEEN ELEMENTS

#	ELEMENT	OLD	4 NOV	GO-LIVE	WHY, AND WHAT IS STILL MISSING
1	Stock quote and chart	3	8	9	Live TradingView chart and mini overview, listings table with ISIN, CUSIP and WKN, TMX and Frankfurt links, text fallback. Missing: market cap and 52-week range as text, and a sticky quote bar on every page if the budget ever allows a feed.
2	Share structure	1	9	9	Full capitalization table with sources, escrow total and release schedule, warrants by strike and expiry, options, fully diluted, the July financing, founder holdings from SEDI, the 8 November 2026 hold expiry. Nothing missing.
3	Financial reports	0	7	8	Two-year audited summary, the interim period, the going-concern answer, the reporting calendar, the pre-audit figure explained. Links open SEDAR+ search rather than the document (SEDAR+ refuses automated access; a captured profile URL is a one-string swap).
4	Presentation and fact sheet	4	9	9	The October 2026 set (deck, pitch, brief, long form, Q&A) linked and copied into the site, all regenerated 4 November on counsel's wording; a printable fact sheet on the site, dated November 2026.

5	Why invest	4	9	9	Nine numbered sections with a sourced number in each, a market table under the legend, no superlatives, no competitors, no fixed-cost figure. The one-point gap: a quarterly letter from the founders, which belongs on the site after the first results release.
6	News and filings	4	8	9	All twenty releases listed with their own Newsfile links, the 3 November release as the per-release page with the s8.6 statement, RSS and a news sitemap. Missing: per-release pages for the earlier releases (CQ builds them on the pattern over time).
7	Email alerts and subscription	0	6	9	Subscribe blocks on seven pages with a working email-request fallback and CASL identification. The Brevo list and its form action are Has's one string; the welcome email and the first send follow.
8	Events and webcasts	0	8	8	Calendar with the 10 November results release, the AGM with time, place, record date and business, both filing deadlines, past events, Event schema. Materials and replays exist only once events happen.
9	Analyst, market maker and IR disclosure	2	9	9	No analyst coverage stated plainly with a promise to list any; Integral Wealth and Signal Capital named exactly as released. Nothing missing.
10	Governance	4	8	9	Board with independence and committees, the audit committee charter located in the Filing Statement, AGM particulars from the 3 November release, SEDI founder holdings, disclosure practice. Missing: the circular (when filed) and further policies as the board adopts them.
11	FAQ	7	9	9	Thirty questions, the three hard ones first, every answer dated or sourced and inside counsel's wording, FAQPage schema. The gap: dates refreshed monthly.
12	Contact and response	5	9	9	Named people, a one-business-day promise, the selective-disclosure policy, Endeavor Trust's full contact details, booking by email, a separate path for customers.
13	AI and search readability	2	9	9	Static HTML on every page, Corporation schema with ticker, ISIN, CUSIP and LEI, unique titles carrying 'TSXV: OCAL', a facts page, llms.txt, real 404. The last point depends on data vendors outside the site.
14	Consistency with the public record	3	9	9	Audited figures only, escrow and warrants from the exchange record, 1,500+ with its NI 52-112 definition beside every first use, rates with their periods, OPENLANE never 'exclusive', no fixed-cost figure, no statement about who sells, Matthew's title correct everywhere, nothing unreleased.
	Total	43	117	124	Out of 140: 31 percent, 84 percent, 89 percent

2. AGAINST TODAY'S RESEARCH

The three site reviews each ended with a ranked list of ideas. The count of each list that is on the new site, with what was left out and why:

LIST	ON THE SITE	LEFT OUT, DELIBERATELY OR FOR LATER
A. Canadian fintech, auto and TSXV sites (12 ideas)	11	A calendar-file download for events (cheap; CQ can add an .ics per event).
B. US auto retail and marketplaces (12 ideas)	9	A quarterly shareholder letter in a fixed structure (after the first update), a Key Figures workbook with eight quarters (after the first two), an evergreen introduction deck refreshed each quarter (the deck is being refreshed on audited figures first).
C. Best-in-class and award winners (10 ideas)	8	A permanent founders' letter page and shareholder Q&A archive (the FAQ absorbs questions for now), and a document matrix by quarter (there is one audited year; the matrix starts when there are rows to fill).
Design: match the consumer site	Done	Tokens read from ocalfinancial.ca on 23 October: Poppins body, Outfit headings, Playfair italic accent, navy panels, green pill buttons, dark footer. One :root block carries them.
Content rule: no competitors	Done	Every named company is gone from the site. The argument rests on sourced industry statistics and OCAL's own record.

3. HOW IT WILL RANK, HONESTLY

- Brand queries ('OCAL Financial', 'OCAL stock', 'OCAL TSXV', 'OCAL share price', 'OCAL Financial investor relations'). Today OCAL's own pages are absent from the top nine for all of them. The new site is a new domain with no history, so it does not rank on day one. What moves it: the 301 redirects carrying the old page's small authority, the link from the consumer site's navigation and footer, the investor URL at the foot of every wire release (Newsfile, Yahoo, Stockhouse and the aggregators then link to it), unique titles carrying the brand string, and the Corporation schema. Expectation: top three for 'OCAL Financial investor relations' within two to four weeks of go-live; top five for 'OCAL Financial' and 'OCAL stock' within 60 to 90 days, after the S&P Capital IQ and TMX descriptions are corrected and two or three releases have pointed to the site. 'OCAL share price' will keep showing the Indian company UCAL until the TMX, Yahoo and Google Finance records are right; that is vendor work, not site work.
- Category queries ('asset-light car dealer stock', 'online car dealership stock Canada', 'used car financing company TSXV'). Low volume, held by generic articles. The Why OCAL and How it works pages carry the phrases naturally and will rank for the long-tail forms over three to six months. Ranking first for the head terms needs explainer pages written as disclosure-safe editorial through the Lawson and CIRO path; proposed in the SEO plan, not built, because they are promotional content and need that review.

- AI answer engines. The facts page, the FAQ and llms.txt give ChatGPT, Perplexity and Google's AI features a plain, consistent set of facts to cite. Until the eight stale vendor profiles are corrected, those engines will keep blending 'powersports and healthcare financing' into their answers, because that text appears on more sites than OCAL's own. The monthly five-prompt check in Has's handoff measures it.
- What would push the checklist score from 89 toward 95 by January. Two monthly operating updates published on time with the history table filled; the deck refreshed on audited figures and posted; the charters posted; the first founders' letter; the escrow tranche counts; 250 confirmed subscribers; the S&P, TMX and Yahoo descriptions corrected; the per-release pages for the nineteen earlier releases.

4. WHAT I WOULD STILL CRITICIZE

- Placeholders. None. The two strings that remain (the form action, a captured SEDAR+ profile link) are the team's to paste; nothing on the site is unverified, and nothing waits on a figure from anyone.
- A new domain. Matthew's decision, and a clean one, but it costs ranking time. The redirects and the consumer-site links are the mitigation; they must go live at the same moment as the domain.
- No plan table. The FY2027 to FY2030 plan table came off the Why OCAL page on 30 October 2026 under the investor narrative rules (no forecast, no growth-capital amount, no per-vehicle dollar figures). The page stands on the audited figures, the roadmap and the audited operating-leverage lines.
- Thin history. One audited year, one interim period, one release page in the new pattern. The site is built to fill as the record grows; today it shows the shape more than the depth.
- Nothing is live. A score on a staging folder is a forecast. The acceptance checklist in document 01 is where it becomes a fact.
